funeral will take place, from Wesley Chapel, to-morrow morning, (Tuesday the 14th,) at 10 o'clock, His friends are invited to attend. GERMAN MUSICAL FESTIVAL .- According to announcement in the newspapers of the city, a grand musical festival of the United German Musicians and Amateur Singers of this and neighboring cities, commenced at Smith & Nixon's Hall, on Saturday evening, was continued at Ross Hill yesterday, and will be concluded by another excursion to Ross Hill to-with him, will long be felt and deplored. The day, followed by a grand concert at two P. M. The procession to Ross Hill yesterday morning, left the city about 8 o'clock, and on arriving at the spot sacred to the remeniscences of Faderland, the persons composing it betook themselves to the numerous tents and stands erected on the grounds, where lager fountains poured forth their muddy streams for all who sought the exhilarating refreshment, which they are supposed to yield. The numbers on the grounds continued gradually to increase from the first, but about 2 P. M., a large accession was made to the company, by the arrival of deputations and visitors from Louisville, Ky., Dayton, Ohio, and other places. The number present at one time was estimated at from eight to nine thousand persons-not all of German birth, or descent, however, for many native Americans and persons of other countries, mixed joyonaly with their German fellow-citizens, in the festivities of the occasion.

In the afternoon, the "intellectual and musical" portions of the programme were observed. Mr. Haussarek commenced, by favoring those of the immense gathering who were so fortunate as to be within reach of his voice, with a history of the rise and progress of German music in the United States. Then followed the musical services, under the leadership of Mr. C. Borns, in which, it is said, one hundred instruments were employed. There was some waltzing, but a vast deal more of drinking-until about six o'clock, when the procession re-formed, and returned to the city.

A PERSONAL rencontre took place, about five o'clock, Saturday afternoon, on the corner of Court and Main streets, between Judge Jacob Flinn, and a hatter named Wasem. The hatter was "knocked into a cocked hat," and the Judge received several severe wounds upon the head, inflicted with a heavy flat-iron. The Judge's son, William, hearing of the difficulty, repaired to the scene of battle, and threatened to thrash the whole world, and the rest of mankind. Friends interfered, but all efforts to quiet the indignant scion proved fruitless. Two or three policemen expostulated-attempted to prove to William that he should "simmer down," but no go. The hatter must be whipped, and William must do it. Forbearance ceasing longer to be a virtue, William was, after considerable resistance, conveyed to the Ninth-street station-house, where he also became very indignan's, and swore he would not submit to being locked up. By the aid of a policeman, Mr. Straus, the station-house keepor, succeeded in getting within a cell, when he jerked to the inner door, caught S.'s hand forty-nine marriage licenses last week. This | tween the bars, and mashed one of his fingers to a perfect jelly. Young Flinn was admitted to bail, and will have a hearing before the Police Judge, this morning, upon five charges of assault and resisting officers.

AN ATTEMPT AT SELF-DESTRUCTION. - A young man named Wm. Wolinhop, bar-keeper at the Baltic Saloon, on Western Row, between George and Seventh streets, made two unsuccessful attempts to take his own life, last Saturday night. He first attempted to blow his brains out with a pistol, and would have succeeded had it not been for the timely interference of a friend, who knocked the pistol from his hand just as he was in the act of pulling the trigger. In a short time afterward, he produced a quantity of laudanum, and after taking it, lay down, as behoped, to die. But no go. A physician was sent for who arrived in time to administer a proper antidote, and thus save his life. Various rumors are rife as to the cause of Wolinhop's desire to "shuffle off this mortal coil," but we find it difficult to arrive at any definite conclusion. He was conveyed yesterday to the residence of a friend in West End, where he will be properly cared for until he recovers, when, we hope, he will see the error of his conduct, and conclude to live a while longer.

YESTERDAY morning, about half-past ten, an alarm was raised in the vicinity of the railroad station at Fulton, and on repairing to the scene of the conflagration we discovered flames issuing from the house occupied by the Catholie clergyman of that district, Rev. Mr. Sullivan. In a few minutes the "Clements" engine No. 10 (corner of Pike and Third) was on the spot, and was quickly followed by the Fulton hand-engine, but their efforts were unavailing to check the progress of the fire, it having gained considerable headway before the alarm was given. We have not heard the estimated amount of the loss, nor whether the house was or was not insured. The house, which stood on the side of the hill, was a twostory frame one, and was the property of the widow Gordon. The "Citizens' Cift" engine repaired to the scene, but was too late to be of YESTERDAY afternoon, about 5 o'clock, a German, named Frank, visited a house kept by "Windy Liz," at the corner of Sixth and Vine streets, and while there became engaged in an altereation with a girl named Louise White, in the course of which she drew a knife, and stabbed him in the back and arm, inflicting severe, though not dangerous wounds. After the cutting, she conducted him to a physician's office, and had his wounds dressed at her expense. She was afterwards arrested and locked up in the Ninth-street station-house, and will have a hearing to-day.

COLUMBUS NEWS.

Columbus, June 11, 1859. SHOOTING AFFRAY.—This afternoon an old man named Lane, while interfering in a drunken row a few miles down the river, was wounded pretty seriously by a rowdy named Hagerly, who afterwards fled back into the woods.

ACCIDENTAL CUTTING .- A difficulty occurred on High street, to-day, in which a man, whose name we did not learn, drew a knife upon another named Clark. A third party interfering was struck on the right hand, reelving a frightful gash. THE criminal term of Common Pleas com-

the criminal term of Common Pleas com-mences on Monday. No particular case has been set for trial on that day. The damage case in which John L. Gill is plaintiff, and Ex-Sheriff Wm. Miner, defendant, is set for Friday of next week. Some time since, plaintiff caused the arrest of a man named Leibel, upon a charge of embezslement, and he was placed in the aheriff's charge from whence he escaped. The damages laid at $5,000, grows out of this occurrence. MARY BUTLES, a witness in the case of the will undergo trial for manslaughter next week, was arrested last night and confined in the station-house. She was an inmate of the den on Mound street, at the time of the affray, but departed suddenly and was unheard of until last evening. THE pick-pockets who were sent up recently for ten days, were brought down again before the expiration of two days. They had a large quantity of money, and very gra-ciously forked over about $50,00 to the municipality. A rise pair of mules were exhibited in the city to-day, being seventy hands high, otherwise large, and well proportioned; one was six and the other seven years old, and, wherever they stopped, were admired by all who saw them.

State against Francis Miller, the lorette, who

THE foreman of the Plating shop, in the The foreman of the Plating shop, in the Penitentiary, from which a large quantity of allver was recently stolen, is out in the city papers, to-day, with a card, wherein he denies that Baughman (the guard who was discharged for participating in the affair with a convict) ever referred the matter to him, receiving his sanction or disappreval, and denouncing Baughman as a calumniator and liar. The venerable chaplain of the institution also appears in a card denouncing the act and the man.
